

Why Are We Doing a Time Study?

- A Time Study Is an Administratively Efficient Mechanism to Quantify the Time and Effort Agency Staff Spend Performing Medicaid Administrative Activities

- The Intent of the Time Study Is:
 - To Identify Allowable Medicaid Administrative Activity
 - To Identify Non-allowable Medicaid Administrative Activity for Exclusion From the Claim
 - Provide Support Documentation That Administrative Activities Were Performed and Do Not Duplicate Other Federal Payments Made to the Agency

Completed Time Studies Are Aggregated into A State-wide Time Study
“Result” That is Applied to Each Agency’s MHFRP Claim
